Law Enforcement Officer of the Year Award

Dear Member Organization President:

During National Police Week, the National Conference of Law Enforcement Emerald Societies (NCLEES) will award the Second Annual Law Enforcement Officer of the Year Award. The President or his designee of all member Law Enforcement Emerald Societies in good standing are invited to nominate a member of their Law Enforcement Agency for this award. Since, this honor will be awarded during National Police Week, when Police Departments from across the nation honor those members, who have made the ultimate sacrifice, NCLEES intends to make this award a joyous event and asks that Member Organizations nominate Officers, who are survivors after having accomplished acts of valor or outstanding community service.

NCLEES has a three-member committee that will be chaired by Joseph J. Keenan, 3rd Vice President. Organizations are requested to complete the attached application and submit it along with copies of individual department recognition requests or the department incident report for consideration before March 1, 2007. The time frame for consideration will be the calendar year 2006. The committee will evaluate all submissions and select an awardee by April 1, 2007. The selected nominee will be invited to the NCLEES May 2007 business meeting in Washington for a presentation and room accommodations, one room for two nights, will be provided. NCLEES is expanding in its scope and one of the new innovations is this yearly honoring of one of our own. Looking forward to your participation in this venture.

Fraternally,
Dennis Long
President NCLEES
